THEY write from Antibes the 20th of last Month, that a Body of the Duke of Savoy's Troops, had attack'd the little Town and Castle of Entrevaux, the Place of Residence of the Bishop of Glandeves: but after they had lain before it 7 days were repuls'd with loss: the Burghers with 4 Companies of Country Militia, having in a Sally beaten the Regiment of Saluces from the top of a Hill where that Regiment was intrench'd. They had like Success at the Castle of Cuebris, which the Sieur de Leme Captain of the Queen's Regiment defended with his own Company only, a Week. The Troops which the Count de Grignan sent towards that Frontier under the Command of the Sieur de Narbonne oblig'd them to retire.

From the Rotterdam Gazette, dated July 14.

Rotterdam, July 14. A Letter written by one of the Camisars, and dated from Muffon the 18th of last Month, runs in substance as follows.

Brother,

I Have receiv'd your Letter which brought me the welcome News of your good Health. Cavalier went off from us the 7th instant; His Deserting us, so astonishes and afflicts us, that we cannot mention it but with Tears in our Eyes. He had often made solemn Protestations of his being of the Reform'd Religion, and we have seen him perform suitable Acts of Devotion, a thousand times. We cannot imagine wherefore it pleas'd God to permit he should be separated from us; 'tis likely it was to warn us not to put too great Hopes in the Arm of Flesh. Cavalier has lost more by it than We; the Lord convert him. As for us, we are determin'd to fight as long as God shall give us Strength, and to the last Drop of our Blood; being perswaded that if we persevere he will make us overcome our Enemies, seeing we employ our Arms only to procure the Reestablishment of his holy Religion. We have declar'd unanimously that the first among us who shall talk of Peace upon any other Terms than restoring the Protestant Religion, shall suffer Death without Mercy. We have lately had five Skirmishes, and by the Grace of God had the better in all of them. The last was near la Cadiere, when we kill'd 200 Men; among them a grey headed Man, whom at first we took to be the Marshal de Villars, but it prov'd to be Monsieur de Rosel of Montpellier; four Officers of Dragoons were kill'd likewise, and we took some Arms. You would know our Number; I assure you there are now 5000 of us well arm'd in a Body, commanded by Ravel and Catinat. Vendome and and Rolland are with other Bodies about Anduse and St. Jean de Gardonnerques. Rolland (the Father,) is in the Vivarez with a Party that increases daily. We are inform'd he has burnt several Churches, and kill'd divers Priests and other false Christians. I am, &c.
